The Dignity of Work and the Rights of Workers

Since the Fall, man has been cursed to toil; earning his bread by the sweat of his brow. But this does not mean that all work is a punishment or evil. Work is intrinsically good. God gave Adam a job in Eden, to tend and protect the garden. When Jesus became man, before His public ministry, He “devoted most of the years of his life on earth to manual work at the carpenter’s bench” (St. John Paul II, Laborem Exercens). Work is more than simply a way to make a living; it is part of our participation in God’s creation and therefore an intrinsic good. It is also important to combine this teaching with what we learned earlier about basic human dignity and our rights and responsibilities. Each and every worker is created by God, and has an inherent dignity which must be respected at all times. The economy exists to serve people, not the other way around. “I would like to remind everyone, especially governments engaged in boosting the world's economic and social assets, that the primary capital to be safeguarded and valued is man, the human person in his or her integrity: ‘Man is the source, the focus and the aim of all economic and social life’” (Benedict XVI, Caritas in Veritate).

We have the right to work, the right to a fair wage, the right to organize a union (one based on Christian principles only — so many in history would not be acceptable to Catholic teaching) and, perhaps most important, the right to private property. But with these rights, we also have concurrent responsibilities. Work must be treated conscientiously, both by employers and employees. Employees have the duty to give their best effort and labor diligently, while employers have the responsibility to treat their employees as brothers, paying them fairly and looking out for their welfare. Paying a fair wage is especially serious; it is one of the four sins which cries out to heaven for vengeance, the other three being the murder of innocents, sodomy, and the oppression of the poor.

As mentioned above, Genesis speaks often about work. There is the line from Genesis 3 where God tells Adam he will toil for his living. But before that, in Genesis 2:15, God sets Adam in the Garden of Eden to cultivate and care for it, giving him dominion over all the other creatures. In Deuteronomy 14, the Lord blesses those who work and share the fruit of that work with others. Later on, a law is given specifically against withholding fair pay from employees, “You shall not oppress a hired servant who is poor and needy, whether he is one of your brethren or one of the sojourners who are in your land within your towns; you shall give him his hire on the day he earns it, before the sun goes down (for he is poor, and sets his heart upon it); lest he cry against you to the Lord, and it be sin in you” (Deuteronomy 24:14-15). Scripture goes even further in Sirach 34, calling it murder to take away a neighbor’s living or refuse to pay an employee. Jesus speaks often on the dignity and necessity of work. In Matthew 20, His parable of the workers in the vineyards, while it of course speaks firstly on spiritual matters (that no matter when one comes to the faith, their reward will be the same), it also shows that all workers deserve to be paid justly and what they are promised by employers when they make a contract. He also speaks on our duty to do our work with integrity in Luke 12, telling tax collectors and soldiers to do their jobs, but do them diligently and honestly. Finally, St. James tells the rich in James 5 that the rich who have withheld their payment have by that fact participated in the crucifixion of Our Lord.

SAINTS IN TRAINING

Formation for young children learning the Faith to become saints

St. Isidore teaches us about the Dignity of Workers

St. Isidore has become the patron of farmers and rural communities. In particular, he is the patron of Madrid, Spain and the United States National Rural Life Conference.

When he was barely old enough to wield a hoe, Isidore entered the service of John de Vergas, a wealthy landowner from Madrid, and worked faithfully on his estate outside the city for the rest of his life. He married a young woman as simple and upright as himself who also became a saint—Maria de la Cabeza. They had one son who died as a child.

Isidore had deep religious instincts. He rose early in the morning to go to church and he spent many a holiday devoutly visiting the churches of Madrid and surrounding areas. All day long, as he walked behind the plow, he communed with God. His devotion, one might say, became a problem, for his fellow workers sometimes complained that he often showed up late because of lingering in church too long.

He was known for his love of the poor, and there are accounts of Isidore supplying them miraculously with food. He had a great concern for the proper treatment of animals. He died on May 15, 1130, and was declared a saint in 1622, with Saints Ignatius of Loyola, Francis Xavier, Teresa of Avila, and Philip Neri. Together, the group is known in Spain as “the five saints.”

Many implications can be found in a simple laborer achieving sainthood: physical labor has dignity; sainthood does not stem from status; contemplation does not depend on learning; the simple life is conducive to holiness and happiness. Legends about angel helpers and mysterious oxen indicate that his work was not neglected and his duties did not go unfulfilled.

Match each worker to his or her tool:

1. Firefighter
2. Crossing guard
3. Doctor
4. Farmer
5. Judge
Sunday, January 31: St. Marcella—Widow and Martyr
St. Marcella was born to a noble family in Rome in 325. She married to a Roman nobleman and resided with him at their Aventine Hill palace before he passed away about nine months into the marriage. Marcella received marriage proposals from consul Cerealis, but she turned them down preferring to devote herself to Christ. She organized a group of women who lived simply and cared for the poor. Marcella became friends with St. Paula as well as St. Jerome, with whom she had correspondences. In 410, Goths invaded the region and physically attacked Marcella in an effort to learn about where she stored her vast wealth, which she had long since given away. Marcella passed away from her injuries shortly after the attack.

Monday, February 1: Bl. Luigi Variara—Priest
Bl. Luigi Variara was born in Viarigi, Italy on January 15, 1875. When he was 12 years old he met St. John Bosco, which inspired him to join the Salesians. He entered the novitiate in 1891 and went on to study philosophy. During his studies he met Fr. Michele Unia who spoke about his work with the lepers. Luigi decided that this was his calling, so he set off for Columbia with Fr. Unia to labor with the lepers in the village of Agua de Dios. There he taught the lepers music and drama and was ordained a priest to minister to their spiritual needs as well. Following Fr. Unia’s death, Luigi and a group of priests assumed leadership. In 1905 Luigi founded the Michele Unia Youth Hostel for young lepers to educate them in professional trades. On May 7th of that year he founded the Daughters of the Sacred Hearts of Jesus and Mary to care for the residents of the hostel.

Tuesday, February 2: St. Lawrence of Canterbury—Bishop
St. Lawrence was born in Italy sometime during the sixth century. He was a Benedictine who travelled from Rome to England in 595, under the leadership of St. Augustine, to convert the pagan population. He arrived in Thanet in 597. Before Augustine passed away, he consecrated Lawrence bishop in 604 to succeed him. When the people began to lapse into paganism, Lawrence decided to leave behind his flock and travel to France. According to tradition, he was scolded and scourged by St. Peter in a dream, waking up with physical scars on his back. Lawrence remained in his diocese and successfully converted King Edbald to Christianity. He passed away in Canterbury on February 2, 619.

Wednesday, February 3: Bl. Anne-Marie Rivier—Virgin
Bl. Anne-Marie Rivier was born in Montpezat, France on December 19, 1768. When she was two years old she fell from her bunk bed and was left crippled. For the next four years, her mother brought the child every day to a local chapel where Anne-Marie prayed before a statue of the pieta for healing. She promised to give the statue of Mary a hat if she was cured. On September 8, 1774, the feast of the Nativity of Our Lady, Anne-Marie was cured and began to walk again. Her mother went to the chapel and found a hat placed on the head of Our Lady’s statue as Anne-Marie had promised. In adulthood, Anne-Marie founded the Sisters of the Presentation of Mary, an order who provided education for poor children.

Thursday, February 4: St. Andrew Corsini—Bishop
St. Andrew Corsini was born to a noble family in Florence, Italy on November 30, 1302. After living a worldly life he was converted by his mother and went to Santa Maria del Carmine church where he decided to become a Carmelite monk. Andrew began to live a life of mortifications. He was known to perform miracles, make peace between peoples, and had the gift of prophesy. Andrew was appointed Bishop of Fiesole on October 13, 1349. After initially declining the position, he assumed the duties of the office for the next twelve years. He was also appointed papal legate to Bolgona to resolve a dispute.

Friday, February 5: Bl. Elizabeth Canori Mora
Bl. Elizabeth Mora was born to a wealthy family in Rome, Italy on November 21, 1774. She married a lawyer named Cristoforo Mora on January 10, 1796 with whom she had four daughters, two of whom survived. Her husband grew very jealous and became controlling of Elizabeth and began to engage in adultery. He left behind Elizabeth and her children sending them into poverty. Despite this ill treatment, Elizabeth remained loyal and loving toward her husband and prayed for his conversion. Her prayers were eventually answered as Cristoforo experienced a change of heart upon Elizabeth’s passing and repented of his sins. He became a Conventual Franciscan and was ordained a priest.

Saturday, February 6: St. Alfonso Maria Fusco—Priest
St. Alfonso Maria Fusco was born to a poor family in Angri, Italy on March 23, 1839. Prior to his birth, Alfonso’s parents visited the relics of St. Alfonso Ligouri and were told by a priest at the chapel that they would have a son, name him Alfonso, and that he would become a priest. On November 5, 1850, Alfonso entered the seminary of Nocera dei Pagani and he was eventually ordained to the priesthood. While asleep one night, Alfonso experienced a vision of Christ who told him to found a congregation of sisters to care for orphans. He then met Maddalena Caputo of Angri who became the leader of his Congregation of the Sisters of St. John the Baptist who opened and operated orphanages.
BECOME A PARISHIONER

Church membership is an obligation of discipleship and love that derives from being united with Christ. At the Cathedral, active membership is a requirement for the celebration of a marriage or baptism, for one to be eligible to be a Godparent or Conformation sponsor, and for special benefits such as tuition subsidy at a Catholic school. There are certain minimum requirements for parish membership called the precepts of the Church. The following are three of those precepts and how we look upon them in relation to parish membership.

ATTENDANCE AT WEEKLY MASS. The first precept of the Church requires the faithful to participate in the Eucharistic celebration when the Christian community gathers together on the day commemorating the Resurrection of the Lord (CCC #2042) and on holy days of obligation (CCC #2043). Since the Cathedral’s weekly Mass attendance envelopes are the primary way we determine if parishioners are regularly attending Mass, parishioners must place their envelopes in the collection basket every Sunday regardless of whether one makes a financial contribution or donates online.

RECEIPT OF THE SACRAMENTS. The third and fourth precept of the Church state that the faithful must ensure preparation for the Eucharist by the reception of the Sacrament of Penance at least once a year, and the reception of Holy Communion at least once a year during the Easter season (CCC #2042) and to join in fast and abstinence during Lent.

SUPPORT OF THE CHURCH. The fifth precept of the Church states that the faithful have the duty of providing for the material needs of the Church, each according to their abilities in a regular, identifiable and meaningful way.
